Meet Ayugi, our new Student Experiences Coordinator!

Ayugi is a Women’s Health Advocate, a wife, mother, fitness enthusiast and humanitarian. Results-driven and highly accomplished, Cindy comes to us with a proven track record of success in fundraising in support of various Global Health issue areas for the past decade. Her work has spanned food, menstrual and vaccine equity both locally and internationally, with her passion lying in using her skills and talents to bless the lives of many.

She currently lives in Orem, UT with her husband and two children and in her free time, you can catch her in a dance class.

Stay tuned for more information on how to reach her and why you might want to!!

One of our professors - Alisha Redelfs - has been a victim of identity fraud by someone sending out emails using her BYU photo, contact info, and research profile. If you've received an email from "her" about research opportunities, you may have inadvertently given out personal information that could be used for identity theft. Alisha has alerted BYU and Abuse@byu.edu but there isn't much they can do at this point.
