The Texas Children’s Global Health Network, in collaboration with Baylor College of Medicine, is offering a paid internship for the summer of 2024. This role is based in Houston, Texas, and spans a full-time, 12-week period starting mid-May 2024. It’s an excellent chance for individuals to immerse themselves in global health program management, operations, and implementation, covering key aspects such as monitoring and evaluation, social media, fundraising, education, and training. The focus is on tackling health challenges in low-resource settings, making it an invaluable experience. Importantly, this position is open to graduate students with no prior experience in the field required.

Project Description
The Utah Department of Health and Human Services (DHHS) is one of CDC’s ten Foodborne Diseases Centers for Outbreak Response Enhancement. FoodCORE centers work together to develop new and better methods to detect, investigate, respond to, and control multistate outbreaks of foodborne diseases. One of the objectives of the FoodCORE project is to improve investigation and interviewing of Salmonella, E. coli, and Listeria cases.

DHHS is currently recruiting an Enteric Disease Intern (EDI) to assist with the FoodCORE project. The EDI will build knowledge of enteric diseases and their impact, learn the art and science of case interviewing, participate in outbreak investigations and after-action activities, become familiar with investigative tools and DHHS’s communicable disease surveillance system, and acquire hands-on epidemiology experience.

Responsibilities:
1. Perform enteric disease interviews
2. Assist with investigative response during foodborne disease outbreaks
3. Assist with other enteric disease projects and reports as needed

Prerequisites
Required: Current student, great interpersonal skills, knowledge of Microsoft Word and Excel, highly motivated, independent worker
Preferred: Graduate-level student, Spanish-speaking, experience conducting interviews

Start Date
March 2024

End Date
TBD

Hours per week
15-20

Pay rate
$16/hour

Other Details
Hours are flexible, but DHHS will expect regular hours weekly. 6-month minimum commitment. If funding allows, this opportunity may be extended.

To Apply
Email a letter of interest and CV/resume to BreAnne Osborn (breanneosborn@utah.gov) by February 13, 2024.
