2025 USOPHE Conference Call for Abstracts

The Utah Society of Public Health Education (USOPHE) is currently accepting abstract proposals for the 2025 annual conference.

The theme for this year's conference is Bridging Gaps, Building Knowledge.

Join fellow health educators, researchers, and practitioners for our annual conference. This year's theme, "Bridging Gaps, Building Knowledge," focuses on innovative approaches to overcoming barriers in health education, communication, and program delivery to build connections and bridge gaps across health education.

We are excited to hear any and all ideas! Some ideas may be:

- Increasing collaboration
- Fostering innovation in health education delivery
- Addressing disparities in health education
- Connecting education to practice in meaningful ways
- Improving health communication

For more details and to submit an abstract proposal, see the Google form here.

Proposals are due by July 8TH, 2025 AT 11:59PM.
